

Pamukkale Wines is founded in Guney county of the Denizli city in 1962

Güney country is in the north of Denizli, at 38°9'14.64'' N latitude and 29°3'58.60''E longitude and 750 - 850 meters above the sea level. In winter, cold and snowy continental climate prevails in county of Guney with the average of annual rainfall of 475-550mm and the temperature difference between day and night in the summer reaches 15°C - 20°C. Soil is clay - loam, limestone and pebbly.The Guney Plateau is an important vineyard for winery because of the ideal natural conditions as well as the investments made to the region by Pamukkale Wines.

Pamukkale winery, with its fully grown 65 hectares of vineyards and contracted farmers, makes chateau style production that is described as “processing on site”.

In cooperation with the leading wine cultivation institutions, the local manufacturers had the opportunity to continue their education. Hundreds of thousands of grape vines and plant protection agents were provided free of charge.The main target of Pamukkale Winery was to increase local wine cultivation. Because of the surge in the cultivation of grapes, many people returned to the wine-growing region and for this the company can be very proud.

Today, Pamukkale Wines is one of the most important producers in Turkey with its gold medal awarded products in international contests and with a modern winery that has 4500 tons/year capacity.

Since 1989, 20% of Pamukkale Winery’s wine production has been for Germany and France. It has also been exported to the Netherlands, Denmark, Austria and other European countries as well as to countries in the Far East.

Pamukkale Winery’s chief goal is to use the most modern technology to produce the best quality wine at the best prices for all those who share a love of wine.

selendi

Selendi Wines was established in 2000 by Mr. Akin Ongor in Akhisar, Aegean Region of Turkey. After he retired from his position as the CEO of Garanti Bank, he purchased a former tobacco field to turn it into a vineyard and a boutique winery. The 1.5 hectares vineyard was planted with Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Syrah. As the hobby turned into a business, Ongor family purchased more land in 2005. The second vineyard was established in, Sarnic village, 800m high from the sea level at mountain ranges. The 19 hectares land has four separate plots planted Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Syrah, Cabernet Franc, Petit Verdot, Grenache, Mourvedre, Cinsault, Chardonnay, Viognier and Narince. The Sarnic vineyard has organic viticulture license. There is an ongoing project of building a bigger winery with the Hittite inspired architecture.

Selendi Wines follows chateau style production guidelines. At harvest time, the grapes are hand-picked before sunrise, and transported in 13kg small baskets to air-conditioned winery. Hand-selection of unripe and overripe grapes on conveyor belt takes place before and after grape bunches pass through the de-stemmer. Every varietal is fermented at stainless-steel tanks separately. They, then, rest in medium-toasted French oak barrels for 20 months.The wines are bottled at the premises.

Each vintage of Selendi red blend has a different contemporary painting by a Turkish artist on its label.

Products: Selendi 2009 (red blend) and Gulpembe 2011 (organic rose wine).

Fall 2012: Selendi 2010 and Merlot 2010 (organic) will be released.

Future releases (all organic): Syrah (single varietal); Cabernet Sauvignon (single varietal); Narince (white single varietal); and a blend of Chardonnay and Viognier.

A percentage of the profits are donated to the girl's industrial vocational high school built by Mr.Akin Ongor in name of his wife, Zeynep Gulin Ongor.

Winemaker: Andrea Paoletti

Managing Partner: Pelin Zaimoglu

In 1942, after having discovered vineyards and winemaking in France,

Mr. İsa Güner; a first-generation imigrant from Bulgaria, founded his own winery in İzmir - Turkey. Understanding that there was outstanding natural potentiality in Turkey for wine production, Nowadays, the property composed by 160 hectares of vineyard and a first class restaurant (İsabey), is managed by the third generation of the Güner family.

Sevilen is producing grapes on two sites:

- Aegean area, around İzmir; a warm Mediterranean climate
- Anatolia plateau, a cool Mediterranean climate

In İzmir (150 meters of elevation) climate conditions are closed to those of Bari or Athens. In the Anatolia plateau (900 meters of elevation), climate conditions are similar to Rhone valley (Hermitage, Chateauneuf du Pape) but drier during summer. On both sites soils are unique with a complex distribution, alternation of chalk and shale (heavy clay) and occurrence of limestone. This diversity of soil and climate allows the production of very qualitative white and red wine always presenting an unique expression.

Urla Wines has adopted as its mission to make Urla a wine region similar to those successful examples abroad and feels indebted to take the Karaburun Peninsula, which was an essential winemaking centre in the past, to those fine days of history or even farther. This is why taking creative, competitive and unique steps in each and every field of its activities occupies the first place among its basic values.

Being decisive of opening up new doors by reanimating and diversifying a phenomenon in the historical texture of the region which is being gradually renowned in touristic terms, Urla Wines has started off with the belief of producing the select “Urla Boutique Wine” (château wine) which it believes will attract attention and respect all over the world some day.

Vinkara

Vinkara's tale dates back to the 1960s when the group purchased land in the Kalecik region in Ankara. Venture into viniculture began in 2003 with the cultivation of vineyards in Kalecik. Today, Vinkara has vineyards and production facilities on 135 acres with a capacity of produce 1,040,000 liters of wine.

In 2008, Italian wine producer and oenologist Signor Marco Monchiero joined our group.

The microclimate created as result of the mountains surrounding the Kalecik terrain, makes it one of the most important centers for viniculture in the world. This climate characteristic is the same as that of the regions around the world where Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon and Pinot Noir grapes are cultivated. The air hits the mountains as it rises, creating hot weather in the valley and rain in the plains. Our vineyards are approximately 650 meters above sea level and in close proximity to Kızılırmak. Because there is a big difference between day and night temperatures, the grapes cultivated in Kalecik have a distinctive taste and aroma.

The most prominent grape cultivated carries the name of the region: Kalecik Karası.

The aromas of Kalecik Karası wines are not strong with just the right level of tannins with a soft finish.

60% of Vinkara's vineyards are allocated to Kalecik Karası grapes as the priority, but other Anatolia grapes along with world class grapes are cultivated.

Vinkara as a young, dynamic wine company for the first time in Turkey produced a sparkling wine by traditional method from Kalecik Karası (Blanc de noir) named Yaşasın. The objective of the company is to present this special grape "Kalecik Karası" to international wine lovers.

In Vinkara's short history, Vinkara products have won Grand Gold medal at the 2011 Mundus Vini (Germany), Gold Medals at the 2011 and 2012 Selections Mondiales des Vins (Canada) competitions.
